

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please ~~delete~~ the paragraph beginning with "For example, a score is calculated" on page 4, line 19, and replace with the following:

a1 "For example, a score is calculated by a calculate score module 120 for each song played by the system based upon how early the "Next Song" button is hit, if at all. A song receives the highest score if it plays completely through. A song receives a low score if the "Next Song" button is hit while it is playing. The earlier into its play the "Next Song" button is hit, the lower the score. "

Please ~~delete~~ the paragraph beginning with "After a score is calculated" on page 5, line 7, and replace with the following:

a2 "After a score is calculated and processed by a processing module 125, that score is added to a preference profile for the user 100. The user's 100 preference profile, in conjunction with the preference database 130 is used to determine which songs to send to the user 100. The preference database 130 contains a file with the user's 100 preference profile, as well as the preference profiles of every other user who has a profile with the system. The system analyzes the data in the preference database 130 and learns from patterns it detects. For example, if a user 100 typically listens to new wave hits from 80's English bands all the way through, the system will continue to play other similar songs. If, for example, the user typically listens to songs by Falco and the Human